

Development Offer

Part of your job offer is likely to be a development or early experience programme. A development offer may differ between organisations, decide what elements are important to you by looking at this simple diagram which outlines the elements that make a good development offer.

Which of the areas below are an important part of your development offer?

